

Military Mascot Memory Matching Game, Coloring, & Gratitude Cards

Veteran's Day
November 10th, 2025

This Month

Educational Use Disclaimer

The animal characters, cartoon representations, and icons featured in this activity are simplified educational illustrations created solely for teaching purposes. They are not intended to replace, copy, or impersonate the official mascots of the United States military branches.

The official mascots—including the Marine Corps' English Bulldog "Chesty," the Naval Academy's "Bill the Goat," the Army's mules, the Air Force Falcon, the Coast Guard's "Objee," and Space Force's "Rupert"—are trademarked symbols with rich histories and significance to their respective branches.

This educational material is designed to introduce students to military traditions and branches in an age-appropriate, engaging format. All content is intended for non-commercial, educational classroom use only.

The U.S. Marine Corps has an English bulldog, named Chesty XVI as its mascot, who enjoys fetch with a soccer ball and long walks.

Meet Bill the Goat a long standing mascot of the US Navy

Today the U.S. Army is associated with several famous mules, Raider, Ranger II and General Scott. Above is Mr. Jackson the original mule mascot who lived on campus at West Point.

Meet “Objee” the Coast Guard Mascot, a black bear cub, was recently inducted into the National Service Animals Memorial Purple Poppy Hall of Fame.

Meet the Air Force Falcon, featured on the Security Forces emblem. Cadets train live falcons to perform at academy and sports events

Meet Rupert the Armadillo. Actually, the new Space Force hasn't officially adopted a mascot, however, Rupert is a veteran of space travel having visited the international space station. He is currently serving as the Mascot of the Cape Canaveral Space Force Museum

Military Animal Mascots complete the blank with a Veteran.

1. The U.S. Marine Corps has a mascot who's an English bulldog, named _____.
2. The U.S. Navy is associated with a goat named _____being the long-standing mascot for the Naval Academy.
3. The U.S. Army is associated with several famous _____, Raider, Ranger II and General Scott.. Mr. Jackson was the first, who lived on campus at West Point.
4. The _____ Force is associated with a falcon, which is featured on its Security Forces emblem. Live falcons are trained and handled by cadets and perform at academy events and sports
5. The U.S. Coast Guard is associated with a _____ named Objee as its mascot.
6. The new Space Force hasn't a history of a mascot, however, at Space Launch Delta 45, there's an _____mascot named "Rupert".

Bonus Round: There's a history of cats as mascots for Navel _____ because cat's keep the rats at bay; what would you name this kitty cat?

Answers Key to complete the blank with a Veteran.

1. The U.S. Marine Corps has a mascot who's an English bulldog, named "Chesty".
2. The U.S. Navy is associated with a goat named "Bill the Goat" being the long-standing mascot for the Naval Academy. However there's a history of cats as mascots for Navel ships because cat's keep the rats at bay!
3. The U.S. Army is associated with several famous mules, Raider, Ranger II and General Scott.. Mr. Jackson was the first, who lived on campus at West Point.
4. The Air Force is associated with a falcon, which is featured on its Security Forces emblem.
5. The U.S. Coast Guard is associated with a black bear named Objee as its mascot
6. The new Space Force hasn't a hisotry of a mascot, however, at Space Launch Delta 45, there's an armadillo mascot named "Rupert".
7. Bonus Round: There's a history of cats as mascots for Navel ships because cat's keep the rats at bay.

Navy

Air Force

Coast Guard

Space Force

Marines

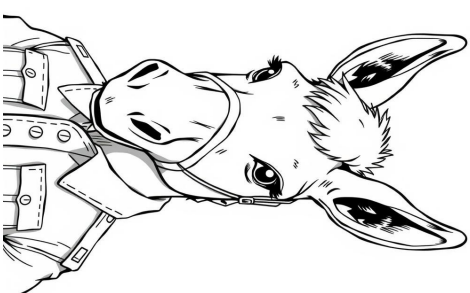

Army

Draw a line between the mascot and the Service with which they are associated

This Veteran's Day
We Honor Your Service!

This Veteran's Day
We Honor Your Service!

This Veteran's Day
We Honor Your Service!

Just a note to share how much we appreciate what you did for our country!

Just a note to share how much we appreciate what you did for our country!

Just a note to share how much we appreciate what you did for our country!

